Sweeping the Solar System:
How Cosmic Dust Made Our World
7:30 p.m., 8:15 p.m., 9:00 p.m., 9:45 p.m.

Location: Frost Planetarium, Level 1

Take a journey to discover how the largest structures in our universe started from the smallest ingredients: cosmic gas and dust. From the molecules within our bodies, to the planets and moons within our own solar system and the many stars within the Milky Way galaxy, this live-presented show explores cosmic dust's role in the formation of our world.
